Course Aims

This course will introduce you to developments in the visual arts from the late Qing dynasty in the early 20th century to the present day post-Mao era, against the broad context of China’s tumultuous socio-political history. You will examine a broad range of visual materials, from Chinese woodblock prints to contemporary art, photography, architecture and design, towards identifying and understanding major themes and critical issues in Chinese art. This course will complement courses in other Asian art histories and Chinese literature. It will also provide a basis for further in-depth studies in Chinese art, history and culture.

Intended Learning Outcomes (ILO)

By the end of the course, you should be able to:

1. Describe a chronological overview of modern and contemporary Chinese art history, including historical contexts to key art movements.
2. Recognize and explain importance of selected Chinese artists and important artworks.
3. Apply techniques of visual analysis and art historical research to Chinese Art, with support from bibliographic and archival materials.
4. Identify key issues in Chinese art history, towards developing a structured research thesis in a clear and cohesive manner.
5. Critique art history research techniques employed by peers in their discourse on Chinese Art in a constructive manner.

Filmography:

Course Policies and Student Responsibilities

(1) General

You are expected to complete all assigned readings, activities, assignments, attend all classes punctually and complete all scheduled assignments by due dates. You are expected to take responsibility to follow up with assignments and course related announcements. You are expected to participate in all project critiques, class discussions and activities.

(2) Punctuality

You are expected to be punctual for all classes. If you are more than 30 minutes late, you will be deemed as absent and will not be able to sign on the attendance register.

(3) Absenteeism

In-class activities make up a significant portion of your course grade. Absence from class without a valid reason will affect your participation grade. Valid reasons include falling sick supported by a medical certificate and participation in NTU’s approved activities supported by an excuse letter from the relevant bodies. There will be no make-up opportunities for in-class activities.

Academic Integrity

Good academic work depends on honesty and ethical behaviour. The quality of your work as a student relies on adhering to the principles of academic integrity and to the NTU Honour Code, a set of values shared by the whole university community. Truth, Trust and Justice are at the core of NTU’s shared values.

As a student, it is important that you recognize your responsibilities in understanding and applying the principles of academic integrity in all the work you do at NTU. Not knowing what is involved in maintaining academic integrity does not excuse academic dishonesty. You need to actively equip yourself with strategies to avoid all forms of academic dishonesty, including plagiarism, academic fraud, collusion and cheating. If you are uncertain of the definitions of any of these terms, you should go to the academic integrity website for more information. Consult your instructor(s) if you need any clarification about the requirements of academic integrity in the course.

Planned Weekly Schedule*

*Subjected to adjustment by instructor according to students’ progress, public holidays and unforeseeable circumstances.

Continuous review of final assignment through various stages of completion
Throughout the last 4 weeks of the semester the final assignment will be subject to review through its various stages of completion. Students will do a short presentation of their final research topic and take questions from their peers. They will also critique presentations by others. This will allow for a peer-review-based examination of research ideas. In this highly interactive process you will learn through and from the work of your peers and the advice offered by the lecturer. These reviews will take all previously learned concepts into account and test the students in terms of their understanding of applying these to practice. | 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 | Lectures on important examples of:
- Exhibitions
- Performance art
- Photography
- Installation

In-Class Presentation:
